Replying to "Miner" Concerning Slickens-

Replying to "Miner" Concerning SlickensBearing Water as a Fertilizer, Etc.

Eds. Record-Union: In your issue of January 21st appears a communication from an anonymous writer—"Miner"—claiming a residence in Smartsville, in which he says: "I, as one who knows where the says take the liberty of correcting the misstatements made by the Hon. Ex-Mayor. * * * The oranges and emons contributed by James O'Brien were rown at Smartsville, on his private rounds, and not on the Bonanza ranch, as he Hon. ex-Mayor assures the deluded A little further on in his very truthful (?) statements he misquotes me again, as follows: "He (meaning myself) says the water from which O'Brien's trees are irrigated contains but a small emergence of the began its session in Denver yesterday. side ranch, is perhaps not sufficient in quantity or quality to cover the rocks and gravel of which said ranch is largely composed, and which, without any water, would be non-productive."

To show the "deluded public" how utterly careless of truth or facts your correspondent "Miner" is, I quote the first paragraph of my communication entire, and ask if there is in it any reference to Bonanza ranch or slickens to cover the rocks and gravel of O'Brien's hillside ranch. My exact words are: "In the citrus fair exhibition now being held in Sacramento, the fruits displayed by James O'Brien have a placard attached to them, which is evidently in-KNOCK-DOWN PRICE IN CLOTHING! displayed by James O'Brien have a placard attached to them, which is evidently intended to mislead the public in regard to the fertilizer known as slickens. The Excelsior ditch, from which O'Brien's trees are irrigated, contains but a small amount of detritus, which, when it reaches his hillside ranch, is perhaps not sufficient either in quantity or quality to injure the rocks and gravel of which that ranch is largely composed, and which, without any water, would be non-productive.

I did not mention Bonanza ranch in connection with Mr. O'Brien's exhibit, or use Men's Plaid Suits (sizes, 34 to 40), $4 25. Lot of Men's Odd Suits of the best Two Thousand Pairs of Men's Allwool Pants (a great variety of patterns), $2 to $3 50.

Mr. Redfield and his land is alluded to by "Miner" in these words: "Here, too, is found the olive, raised by Mr. Redfield, whose land was formerly a rocky waste, whose land was formerly a rocky waste. Redfield dates back to a period early in the fifties, when he, with Messrs. Wilson and Havil, occupied a residence at the foot of a beautiful little valley, b tween Rose's and Cordna's Bars, through which the main road to Kose's Bar passed. Even at that early day Mr. Redfield cultivated flowers which attracted much attention from the early day Mr. Redheld cultivated flowers which attracted much attention from the passers-by, causing many remarks; and on one occasion I heard a person say, "I believe that man intends to make California his home!" This valley contained springs and water-courses. I am now informed the passers of the contained springs are all suggested at the adagascal. No details to ceived.

It is rumored in London that Mr. Parnell has resolved to use the Home Rule vote to overthrow Gladstone at the first opportunity which presents itself, should the Liberth Carlos and the contained are contained as the adagascal. The details of the contained are contained as the adagascal. This valley contained springs and water-courses. I am now informed this whole valley is covered with slickens, sand and gravel many feet in depth. But from what followed it is clear has gone on a cruise, and will not visit that they supposed that all the objectionable matter had been stricken out, for on the same day Mr. Wilson gave notice of a motion to reconsider, and on the next day he made the motion, accompanying it with a speech, of which the following are the pening sentences:

"Mr. President: I move, in accordance with notice, to reconsider the vote by which the artic'e on Chinese was adopted yester day. By this table we find that the average anual temperature at Colfax for five years was 59.6 or lacking less than 1° of being equally as high as Los Angeles while the lowest point touched by the thermometer in five years was once 26° above zero and the next, lowest 28°. And these bservations, remember, were taken in the rillage of Colfax, where it is no uncommo thing for the thermometer to fall from 2° t 4º lower than it does upon the adjacent ridges and table lands upon which all or our fruitculturists are setting their vine and trees at the present time. Again, com paring the mean temperature for nonths commencing with March, we fine that Colfax averages just the same as Angeles.

UNION SERVICES. What Must I Do to be Saved? Believe in Jesus Christ. The Congregational Church was well filled last evening to hear the sermon by Rev. A. C. Herrick, of Calvary Baptist Sirs, what must I do to be saved," a por-Their first convert was Lydia, a seller of purple. Those four men sought to bring before the minds of the people Jesus of Nazareth. While traveling through the streets a slave girl possessed of an evil spirit followed them, crying aloud, "These men are the servants of the Most High God, which shew us the way of salvation," Paul, being grieved, turned and said unto the spirit, "I command thee, in the name of Jesus Christ, to come out of her," and the spirit came out of her immediately. She had been employed by her mas-ters as a soothsayer, or fortune-teller, and when they realized that their hope of gain was gone, they caught Paul and Silas and took them before the rulers, charging that they were Jews, a detriment to the city, and were teaching unlawful cus-The populace rose against them, their clothes were torn from them, they were scourged and beaten, thrust into the innermost dungeon of the dark Roman prison, and their feet made fast in the stocks. At midnight Paul and Silas prayed and sang praises unto God, and all those denly there was a great earthquake, the very foundations of the prison were shaken, al! the doors flew ones and the prison were shaken, al! the doors flew ones and the prison were shaken. shaken, al! the doors flew open, and every one's bands were loosened. awaking from his sleep and discovering the doors of the prison open, drew his sword and would have committed suicide, thinking the prisoners had escaped, had he not been constrained by Paul, who called o him in a loud voice, saying: "Do thyself no harm, for we are all here." the jailer procured a light he came trembling to Paul and Silas, and falling before them, said, in the language of the text, Sirs, what must I do to be saved?" Paul swered him, saying:

BELIEVE IN THE LORD JESUS CHRIST. The soul without Christ is in a lost condion. Lost means gone, dead, nevermore remorse. It has reference to the soul, in regard to the future world. Lost is a fearword. We know what it is when spoken of the man who plows the billowy deep, and when applied to the soul how deep and mighty is that word. A man is lost who is blind in regard to the things of God, who is traveling on the wrong road. How many here to-night are in the king's highway, the way to eternal happiness, o on the road to eternal death? It is hard t get people to realize that their soul is in lost. What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?

this condition toward God. Jesus came into the world to seek and save what is Jesus through those three years of suffering was seeking your salvation. He loved us when we were sinners. If you desire to know the value of your soul, read the New Testament. The jailer referred to realized the value of his soul when he cried, "What must I do to be saved?" You must realize ATENGAGEMENT EXTRAORDINARY you are on the wrong road, traveling in by and unbidden paths. Have you not realized that fact in the last few days, during the holding of these meetings, that

YOU ARE WANDERING FROM GOD, That you are lost, that you have a soul to ave? Have you not repeatedly asked yourself, "What shall I do to be saved?" To all such, like Paul of old, we say to you believe in Christ and right your ways as best you can. It will be remembered that Roman jailer washed and anointed the lacerated backs of Paul and Silas, and made amends for their cruel treatment to the extent that laid within his power.
The minister said he did not think much wrongs that he has done. Zaccheus of old said: "One-half of my property will I give to the poor, and to those I have cheated I will pay four-fold." What shall I do to be saved? is a question that is sorely troubling your hearts. Why don't you come to lesse? You are like a chiracteristic of the control of to Jesus? You are like a ship at anchor. You are tied down to some besetting sin to Jesus? You must weigh anchor, tear yourself from your sins and come to Christ, if you would save your soul; no matter if it is ike the taking out of an eye or the cutting off of your right arm. We must give up est your contemporary's comparison of all our sins. This amusement and that enyment you must give up and seek the ord. We must be willing to do just what

THE FORGIVENESS OF ALL YOUR SINS. If some of the sins of some of this audience were written upon the walls of this church we could not get them to come in here for all the wealth that is in yonder vaults of the State treasury. No matter how dark your sins, God can and will forgive them. you could go out of this church to-night, feeling within your hearts that all your past sins were obliterated, oh! how happy you would be. That happiness is within our reach. Oh! why longer delay. Christ will give you power to overcome your sins, and you will gain eternal life. Those precious gifts are given to those whose souls are saved, and He will also give you strength to bear the trials of life. The beginnings of that which is to bring about ne grandest results are always the most ifficult and severe. So in regard to sin It is hard at first to give it up. One by one the angel of death will come and say to each of us, your time has come. Are you prepared? You are almost persuaded. near home, yet lost!

> CUBIC AIR BAID .- In accordance with the action taken by the City Trustees last Monday, on the suggestion of Trustee Jones, Chief of Police Jackson called the force together last evening, and directed the entire body to be on hand at midnight to make a raid upon Chinatown, to look after the enpreement of the State law making it a offense for any one to lease or to hire to others for lodging purposes a room with less than 500 cubic feet of space in the clear for if if the bulkhead had been a success, and not have broken through when the river also made an offense to occupy the room. The fine for leasing such a room is not more than $500, nor less than $50; and for occupying it, not more than $50 nor less than $10. The City Attorney was present, and instructed the officers as to the pro-visions of the law. He and Health Officer Ferral accompanied the force and assisted in the raid. The "army" was divided into squads, in order that simultaneous descents might be made on different places; but was soon evident that the Chinese had been warned, as at many of the houses en-tered they scattered from their sleeping-rooms like rats when the officers appeared. It seemed, however, that they had vague ideas of the size of rooms as relating to the number o cubic feet of air, and two would remain in a little apartment not containing sufficient air for one occupant, according to the law. One large room contained 10 sleepers, and they were all captured. By 1 o'clock 29 prisoners had been marched into the station-house, three of them, however, becaught in the act. —OF THE—

CLOAK SALE

The Cloak Sale of yesterday brought out a great number of buyers. For several hours the greatest stir and activity prevailed, so much so that many of the best things were overlooked. Therefore, those who were unable to attend yesterday, or who attended and were unable to find what they wanted on account of the hurry and confusion, may come to-day, and with time and quiet have a fair chance of getting suited.

The collection of left-overs includes Ladies'

THE "HOME SEEKER."

The Immigration Association of Northern California is now preparing to issue the January number of the "HOME SEEKER." It is to be enlarged, and fully illustrated with lithographic views of Northern California. It will contain practical information of the resources and advantages of the Northern Counties. All the proceeds of this publication will be devoted to the carrying on or immigration work. We appeal to the business men of the Northern part of the State to give it their advertising support. By so doing, the work of bringing an increase of population to the State will be carried on. At Ogden a copy will be put in the hands of each neoming passenger. In addition to this. several thousand copies will be dis-tributed on the trains leaving Chicago, in order to attract the settler intending to settle in other States and Territories. Anti-Chinese Action. MERCED, January 27th .- Pursuant to a call, a large meeting was held at Lecker's Hall last night, for the purpose of organizing an Anti-Coolie League. The hall was full, there being from four to five hundred persons present. The meeting was orderly, and was addressed by a number of citizens, who expressed their determination to unite in an effort to discourage Chinese immigra-tion, and do all in their power, lawfully, to rid the country of the Chinamen. One hundred and fifteen names were signed to the roll of membership. A committee of five was appointed on organization, and Wednesday evening, February 3d, was apointed for a meeting, to hear the report of the committee on complete organization. The people seem in earnest in the move-ment, and a strong league will undoubtedly be organized at the meeting next Wednes-RED BLUFF, January 27th.-It is said that a secret anti-Chinese meeting was held last night, and to night prominent citizens are to hold a meeting in Lang's building, to consider the removal of the Chinese. The agitation is growing stronger every hour and many believe a consider every hour, and many believe a crusade against the Chinese will occur before the week ends. Two Sisters Drowned. RED BLUFF, January 27th.—Two sisters, Dora and Pearl Mason, aged 17 and 13 respectively, were drowned in Eliza creek, five miles west of here, about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They were with nine other children from the Reed's creek school, which had just been dismissed, in a two-horse spring wagon, which was under the control of their brother. When in the creek the wagon was overturned. Two neighbors saved six of the children, and three managed to save themselves. The sisters disappeared before help could reach them, and have not been found yet. One of the horses was drowned and the wagon was wrecked. The accident creates great sorrow, as the girls were well known and very popular among their friends Sein nets have been thrown across Reed's creek, into which Eliza creek empties near town, and crowds are searching the creeks in hopes of discovering the bolies. me attaches to the brother, who is noted for his affection for his sisters, and his care-

The command under Captain Crawford struck the hostiles about fifty miles southwest of Nacori, Mex. The hostiles became alarmed before the attack could be made by the scouts, and fied. A running fight, lasting two hours, took place, and the entire camp outfit of the hostiles, including their horses, fell into the hands of the scouts. The same day Captain Crawford, at the request of the hostiles, who sent in asquaw, arranged for an interview, to take place the next day, between him and Natchez and others of the renegades. The next morning, and before the meeting took place, Captain Crawford's command was attacked by a Mexican force of 150 men, and Captain Crawford, in endeavoring to make the Mexicans understand that they were attacking a triendly force, was shot through the head and mortally wounded. He died on the 18th inst., and was buried at Nacori. A day or two afterwards Lieutenant Maus, who assumed command, had an interview with Geronimo and Natchez. The report of the special committee of Senators enunciates a very important truth in the statement that the present century has witnessed the introduction of many new forces n the economy of civilization, but that 'none has effected more marvelous changes than the railway as an auxiliary and in strumentality of commerce." *An Ice Gorge Forced by a Steel Steamer. PORTLAND, January 27th.—To-day the new steel steamer Olympian forced a passage through the ice in the Columbia river, and reached Bonneville at 5 o'clock P. M., thus getting around the blockaded portion of the O. R. & N. track. She leaves Bouneville at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning, with five days' delayed passengers and mail, for the days' delayed passengers and mail for the days' delayed passengers and mail, for the days' delayed passengers and mail, for the days' delayed passengers and mail for the days' delayed passengers and mail for the days' delayed passengers and mail itself. There was little intercommunica-tion, and exchanges of products were lim-relations to the citizen or to the govern-mental authority." But the supposition that this impossibility has been a consequence of the rapidity and unexpectedness of its expansion is fallacious. It has been a consequence, rather, of the limitation of human knowledge to things relative and experimental. Senators and Representatives fifty years ago may have known as much politics and been as expert in applying certain principles in regulating the relation of things then within their knowledge as they know and are now. But neither lawmakers or any other sort of men at that day had knowledge of a railway system, of the conditions of its healthful development, or its coming relations to society and public authority. All this was matter in the sealed book of the future;

It has been development, or its coming relations to society and public authority. All this was matter in the sealed book of the future; a book that even the wisest Senator could read only as its pages should be gradually unfolded to his comprehension by the hand of a new experience-an experience examined by a diver this morning, having sustained injury by going on the rocks. "that hardly yet has passed the introductory chapter. Those that have studied the problem most carefully and gained the greatest experiential knowledge of its many and peculiar complications are railway men, who still confess the inadequacy of their knowledge to announce the solution. If legislators, that certainly have not learned any more by experience, are the possessors of greater knowledge, it must be by the effect of supernatural inspiration. But even inspiration has not been found an altogether satisfactory guide of human legislators to the solution of problems that transcend the limits of experience. That it would prove to be a safe guide for governmental regulation of the railway system.

tries as well as in some of our own, great reason to doubt. The best guide for the statute-maker that experience has furnished is not found in working of regulative enactments, but in the surprisingly rapid progress that the railway system has itself made in the direction of a satisfactory adjustment of its sage, due relations to the conditions and wants of so-kets, firm: rily directed it in some other countries, and ment of harmonious and satisfactory relations has been greater and more rapid than in any other. Is this a consequence of the fact that here the political agency has ab-stained more than elsewhere from legislat-

ing by inspiration without knowledge ned by experience? However that may be, when it is a fact patent to all the world that the railway problem is working out itself to a beneficent and satisfactory solution with a degree of rapidity that, upon the comparison | Peerless of a quarter of a century, is not less amazing than gratifying, it would seem to be a not irrational opinion that the legislative power would do most wisely in proceeding
